

ARTESA

As Featured in the Netflix Film

WINE COUNTRY

Wine Spectator

May 2019

Road to 'Wine Country': Amy Poehler Calls the Shots!

"We shot at a winery, Artesa, and they had an amazing vineyard and winery in Napa. They had an amazing—the Albariño was fantastic. I'm trying to think of a better word. The Albariño was, the Albariño was playful, daring and not afraid to cause a scene, and I was all in on that. Loved it. Highly recommend."

AMY POEHLER

©WineSpectator

©WineSpectator

©WineSpectator

May 2019

Road to 'Wine Country': It's Maya Rudolph and Rachel Dratch's Party

"We had an experience at Artesa where once we were done shooting, we actually had a wine tasting, and we all sat down, and I just liked that feeling of hospitality. They just made us feel completely at home and not intimidated at all, in knowing that we're not wine aficionados. We're people who enjoy good glasses of wine or good bottles of wine. They heard that I was in a Prince cover band, and so they put on Prince."

MAYA RUDOLPH

©WineSpectator

ARTESA TELEVISION FEATURES

May 7, 2019

Amy Talks 'Wine Country' with Jimmy Fallon

©NBC The Tonight Show with Jimmy Fallon

May 7, 2019

Amy Promotes Her Directorial Debut

©NBC The Today Show

May 9, 2019

Artesa on Sacramento Local Morning Show

©Artesa Winery

April 29, 2019

©Entertainment Tonight

May 8, 2019

©People TV

April 26, 2019

©Extra

ARTESA VINEYARDS & WINERY
WINE SPECTATOR FEATURE

May 10, 2019

Behind the Scenes with the Winemakers of 'Wine
Country'

Wine Spectator interviews
Artesa President, Susan Sueiro

"The mood of all the people in the cast and crew and how positive they were and how thoughtful and generous they were and how much fun they had when they were doing it is a testament to [Poehler's] leadership. They were so professional, they were so well-organized."

-Susan Sueiro

©WineSpectator

ARTESA HOSTS THE PRESS

May 1, 2019

Amy Poehler & Rachel Dratch Talk Gay Wine
Buddies, LGBTQ Fans and Amy's 'Soft Butch' Style

By Chris Azzopardi

"On an outdoor rooftop deck overlooking the idyllic, rolling views of Artesa Vineyards and Winery, one of their first interviews of the day and where they shot part of the film, Dratch, amused, told Poehler she didn't realize Netflix was actually flying journalists to wine country for the occasion and hooking them up with a private tasting."

©PRIDESOURCE

ELEVATING AWARENESS FOR ARTESA

March 28, 2019

Artesa Estate Vineyards & Winery Solidifies it's Icon Status

Sarah Stierch fills in her readers on the impression Artesa made in her article, Here's the Napa Wine Amy Poehler Loves "A scene in Wine Country is filmed at Artesa Estate Vineyards & Winery in Napa, which Poehler described as being 'amazing.'"